

WHAT'S ON IN ART ?

Term 3

Welcome back to Term 3 everyone!

It was wonderful to welcome students back into the Art room. I was grateful to see them all before lockdown kicked in again.

There are a few exciting things happening in the Art room this term. Entries for the National Student Art Prize close this week and I believe a number of students chose to participate. I will keep you all updated on any results as they come through. Well done to those students who chose to have a go!

Our 'T and Bisque-it' incursion will take place later this term. It was wonderful to have over 100 students choose to participate. These sessions will take place over a number of lunchtime sessions towards the end of the term. It will take some time to get them all glazed and kiln fired however the goal is to have all clay items sent home before the end of term.

A final thank you to everyone who participated in the online art lessons during remote learning. Having three children of my own at home, I know how difficult it is to juggle remote learning and many of you working from home. I love seeing student work coming in with big smiling faces! Here are a few photos of our clever Prep and Grade 1/2 students experimenting with colour mixing and baking cupcakes!
